Feeny Walks District Coastline

In January, I began traveling the entire coastline of the 24th Congressional District. So far I have covered over 45 miles of the coastline meeting with constituents, community leaders, environmental groups and law enforcement officers. On my website, I have posted my journal entries from the trip, photos, and information about joining me along the remaining portion of the walk. To find out more click here.

NASA prepares for the future

In the year since the Columbia disaster I have steadfastly remained supportive of continuing manned space flight. I understand the importance of expanding America's role in space and share President Bush's vision for increased exploration. To read more thoughts on the President's proposal click here.

Washington Waste Watchers making a difference

Since being elected to Congress I have been fighting to see more responsibility in how government spends your money. So far I have voted against nearly $8 trillion in reckless spending and founded a working group, the Washington Waste Watchers, to combat waste, fraud and abuse in the federal government.

Additionally my voting record has earned the highest rating of the group Americans for Tax Reform. To read more Click here.
